Ingentis org.manager is the leading software for the automated creation of organizational charts and visualization of key measurements. Today over 1300 customers worldwide trust in Ingentis org. manager. Here's a selection of customer projects whose main objective it was to visualize a clear organizational structure in combination with other powerful features.

Hutt City Council

All in one place: The Hutt City Council in New Zealand uses Ingentis org.manager to visualize not only their organizational chart but also contact details of its 450 employees as well as floor plans – all combined in a single, clearly structured HR dashboard. The implementation of the org charting tool comes with essential advantages such as improved transparency, flexibility and ease of use. Of course, there are no limits to design and content for future plans of expanding the HR dashboard.

Maersk

The Danish business conglomerate visualizes personnel and organizational information of more than 60,000 employees in 130 countries with the help of Ingentis org.manager. Furthermore, a Data Quality Index is used, to show clean data. The quality index for organizational units is visualized via color coding (green, yellow, red) in the Ingentis org.manager. The software was brought to the attention of Maersk by an SAP implementation partner.

Vancouver Police Department

When implementing Ingentis org.manager, the Vancouver Police Department was able to fully rely on the insights and expertise of Ingentis for every step of the way. The response to the new electronic charts was overwhelmingly positive. Now, the employees of the department can be sure that the data they are seeing is accurate and up-to-date. The HR team is trained in the basics of setting up data and to act as day-to-day editors.

Deutsche Telekom AG

The European telecommunications provider visualizes about 220,000 employees and 50 entities from 29 countries in an org chart in the Intranet. The software is also linked to the Telekom tool People@Telekom, an electronic directory. Ingentis org.manager creates transparency and is the basis for every organizational change as well as meetings and presentations.

Merck

Thanks to Ingentis org.manager, one of the oldest pharmaceutical companies worldwide was able to reduce internal process costs and improve transparency. It was the seamless SAP integration and the easy-to-use approach that convinced Merck to go with Ingentis org.manager. The software visualizes professional responsibilities across organizational charts and entities. The org structure's visualization is also available on the Intranet.

Bavarian Insurance Chamber

Thanks to Ingentis org.manager, the insurance provider sped up internal communication processes and enhanced their quality. Roles and responsibilities for the entire staff can be accessed and visualized. The data is automatically transferred from the PeopleSoft system to Ingentis org. manager which then publishes org charts on the Intranet.

REWE Group

The retail and tourism corporation uses Ingentis org.manager to visualize the company structure with more than 270,000 employees. The software's plug-and-play functionality enabled a quick implementation of only a few hours. As the software is directly linked to the SAP system, the manual creation of organizational charts is no longer necessary. The org charts are displayed on the Intranet according to the company's corporate design.
